Uniform
Wayland, we are seriously considering redesigning our baseball uniform for the 1972 Season. The uniform should not be ostentatious but should be distinctively Braves.

ATLANTA BRAVES

1972 GUIDE FOR PRESS, RADIO AND TELEVISION

The 1972 baseball season is destined to be a big one for Atlanta. Hank Aaron not only continues to challenge Babe Ruth's career home run record, but the Braves are also hosting the Major League All-Star Game. As pictured on the cover, the Braves' team is taking advantage of this "All-Star Year" to change to a colorful new uniform, unlike any other in baseball. The uniform was designed with the best features of all the new uniforms of recent years, as well as some innovations supplied by the Braves. The stylized feather, special sleeve design, dark colored jersey on the road, and sweeping helmet design are four of the features found on no other team's uniform.

The Braves in the World Series

1914 — Boston 4 games, Philadelphia 0

Manager George Stallings' 'Miracle Braves,' who climbed out of the cellar in July to win the pennant, swept Connie Mack's great Philadelphia Athletics in four games. The Braves were built around the pitching trio of Dick Rudolph, Bill James and George Tyler and the second base combination of Johnny Evers and Rabbit Maranville. Catcher Hank Gowdy, who batted .243 for the season, had a .545 average for the series, with a homer, triple, three doubles and a single.

1948 — Cleveland 4 games, Boston 2

The Braves under Billy Southworth won their first National League pennant in 34 years, but lost the series to Lou Boudreau and the Indians. Gene Bearden, Navy veteran of World War II, was Cleveland's pitching hero. Bob Feller allowed Boston only two hits in the opening game but lost it to Johnny Sain, 1-0. Boston's only other victory was in the fifth game, 11-5, as Bob Elliott smashed successive homers off Feller.

1957 — Milwaukee 4 games, New York 3

Sensational Lou Burdette had three victories and pitched 24 consecutive scoreless innings to defeat a New York team that was making its eighth Series appearance in nine years under the leadership of Casey Stengel. Warren Spahn was the winning pitcher in Milwaukee's other victory. Eddie Mathews' tenth-inning homer won the fourth game after the famous Nippy Jones shoe polish incident. Burdette started the seventh and final game after Spahn was felled by the flu, and with only two days rest, pitched a 5-0 shutout.

1958 — New York 4 games, Milwaukee 3

The Yankees, gaining revenge for their defeat the previous year, carried the Series to seven games and then won one of their greatest triumphs in Series play. They became only the second team in history to come from a three-games-to-one deficit and win the classic. Hank Bauer led the Yanks with ten hits and eight runs batted in, while pitcher Bob Turley won the fifth game, saved the sixth and won the seventh. Warren Spahn won two and Lou Burdette one for the Braves.

The Braves in the Championship Series

1969—New York Mets 3 games, Atlanta 0

Atlanta became the first Western Division champion by winning .769 per cent of its games in September, finishing the year with a 93-69 record. New York then swept the three-game Championship Series from the Braves. The Mets scored five runs in the eighth inning to take the first game in Atlanta, 9-5. The following day, six Atlanta pitchers failed to stop the Mets as New York won 11-6. Then in the final game on Oct. 6 at Shea Stadium, Wayne Garrett's two-run homer in the fifth finished the Braves' hopes, with the final score, 7-4.

Hank Aaron — OF — No. 44

Henry Louis Aaron. Born Feb. 5, 1934 at Mobile, Ala. Bats and throws right. 6-0, 180. Graduated from Josephine Allen Institute, Mobile, Ala., 1951. Has four children: Gail, born Nov. 5, 1953; Hank, Jr., Mar. 10, 1957; Larry, Dec. 15, 1957; Dorinda, Feb. 5, 1962. Lives in Atlanta. Acquired – Signed by Boston Braves Scout Dewey Griggs after Braves purchased his contract for $10,000 from Indianapolis Clowns of Negro American League, June 14, 1952.

Hank Aaron enters the 1972 season just 20 home runs away from the all-time career home run record for a player with a single team, set by Babe Ruth at 659 with the Yankees. All of Aaron's 639 career homers have been with the Braves, while Ruth hit his record career total of 714 with the Red Sox, Yankees and Braves. . .Aaron should also break the all-time Major League record for career total bases in 1972. He starts the season with 5,941, second only to Stan Musial at 6,134. . .Hank started last season among the top three lifetime in only home runs among the major hitting categories, but he finished the season third or better in five of seven major hitting statistics. . .1971 also marked the second straight year that Hank was the top vote-getter in the balloting by the fans for selection to a starting position in the Major League All-Star Game. Aaron received 1,119,316 votes to appear in last summer's Classic. . .The past season was also Hank's best overall hitting year in the big leagues. His 47 homers for the season was the highest total of his career. Ironically, Babe Ruth also hit 47 homers just once during his great career, and the next season (1927) Ruth hit his record-setting 60.

Hank has been selected to play for the National League in the All-Star Game 14 consecutive times, and he was named to a starting position in the game in 1957, 1958, 1959 (both games), 1960 (both games), 1963, 1964, 1965, 1966, 1967, 1968, 1969, 1970 and 1971.

Aaron was signed by Boston Braves Scout Dewey Griggs after the Braves purchased his contract for $10,000 from the Indianapolis Clowns of the Negro American League in 1952. He was signed for the Clowns on November 20, 1951, by Scout Ed Scott.

Hank is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Aaron of Mobile, and he has three brothers and three sisters.

In accomplishing his hitting feats, Aaron has surprisingly struck out only 1,159 times. In comparison, five active Major Leaguers have more career strikeouts – Harmon Killebrew, Willie Mays, Frank Howard, Frank Robinson and Roberto Clemente.

Hank became the first player to ever have both 3000 career base hits and over 500 home runs on May 17, 1970, when he collected his 3000th career hit against Wayne Simpson of the Reds in Cincinnati. . .Hank enters the 1972 season with 13 grand slam home runs, one short of Gil Hodges' National League record. Going into 1972, Hank's last grand slam homer was April 10, 1970. . .He was voted Most Valuable Player in the South Atlantic League in 1953 and the Most Outstanding Rookie in the Northern League the year before. . .Baseball writers named him the Braves' Most Valuable Player in 1954, 1955, 1957, 1959, 1967 and 1971. . .He was named Most Valuable Player in the National League by the BBWAA in 1957 and was named National League Player of the Year by The Sporting News in 1956 and 1963. . .Hank is one of only five players who have ever hit over 30 home runs and have stolen over 30 bases in one season (1963).

Hank became a Milwaukee Braves regular in the outfield during spring training of 1954 when Bobby Thomson fractured an ankle on March 13. Aaron later suffered a broken ankle himself on September 5, 1954, and missed the remainder of his rookie season. . .Hank received the Gold Glove as the National League's top fielding right fielder in 1958, 1959 and 1960. . .He and Eddie Mathews set the Major League record for most homers by teammates with 863 (442 by Aaron and 421 by Mathews) in 1954-66, breaking the record of 793 by Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig. . .Aaron was the recipient of the Lou Gehrig Award in 1970, signifying the Major Leaguer that best exemplifies the character and courage of Gehrig. . .On June 8, 1961, Mathews, Aaron, Joe Adcock and Frank Thomas set a Major League record for most consecutive homers by teammates in the seventh inning at Cincinnati. . .Aaron and Earl Williams are the only two Braves who have hit homers into the upper deck at Atlanta Stadium. Aaron did it on Opening Night in Atlanta Stadium for 1970 against Frank Reberger of the Giants. . .Hank hit three homers in a game on June 21, 1959. . .He's had five hits in a game three times and four hits in a game 44 times. . .Hank's had batting streaks of 15 or more games ten times – 25 games in 1956 and 1962, 22 in 1959 and 1971, 19 in 1960, 18 in 1967, 16 in 1964 and 1965, and 15 in 1957 (twice) and 1958.

Atlanta fans honored Hank with "Hank Aaron Night" on August 23, 1968, and for his 3,000th hit jointly with Hoyt Wilhelm on May 26, 1970. . .Hank was hitting .467 for the Indianapolis Clowns when owner Syd Pollock offered his contract to the Boston Braves in a letter to Farm Director John Mullen. . .Hank's Major League pinch-hitting record is eight for 37 (.216) with one pinch-hit homer on July 8, 1962.

He is one of only 24 players in Major League history with as many as 13 seasons with .300 or higher batting averages. . .He enters the 1972 season 19th all-time in bases on balls at 1,098.

Hank was named the representative from sports on the list of the ten best dressed men in America, which was prepared by the Custom Tailors Guild of America last summer. . .He is also a member of the President's Council on Physical Fitness. . .Advertisers and sophisticated marketers are becoming more and more aware of the sales and motivational possibilities brought about by Aaron's involvement in community affairs and the commercial use of his name and image. This has come about with his finishing first in the fans' balloting for the All-Star Game the past two years, proving that he is baseball's most popular athlete. . .Hank signed his first two-year contract for the Braves on February 19, 1970.

Hank was named to an outfield position on The Sporting News Major League All-Star Team in 1956, 1958 and 1959. . .Sporting News named him to its National League All-Star Team in 1963, 1965, 1967, 1969, 1970 and 1971. . .Among his awards last season were the selection to the Associated Press Major League All-Star Team and a third place finish in the voting for National League Most Valuable Player.

He tied for the Major League lead in picking runners off base in 1968 with eight . . . Niekro beat the Reds six times in 1969 . . . In 1969,

In his first two full seasons in the big leagues, Stone started 1969 with a 6-0 record before finishing at 13-10 and then started the 1970 season with a 6-1 record before finishing 11-11. He reversed his tendency of his first two seasons last year when he started the season by losing three games in a row . . . In 1970 he had two four-game winning streaks during the year and one five-game losing streak. Last season he had one four-game winning streak and one four-game losing streak, ending the season by losing the four in a row . . . George was 8-2 in his first pro season in 1966 and was in the right place at the right time in 1967, attending Georgia State University in Atlanta and working out with the Braves, when an opening became available on the big league roster. He did not appear in a game the first time he was activated to the Braves' roster during the 1967 season, but he came back to pitch in two games for Atlanta that year after being farmed out to Austin and Richmond when his classes at Georgia State ended. Two seasons later he was in the regular Braves' starting rotation . . . George is a third cousin of Braves' relief pitcher Cecil Upshaw . . . Stone was an All-State baseball and basketball player while in high school in Louisiana, and he was named All-Conference in basketball while attending Louisiana Tech . . . Dick Towers — P — No. 69

Richard Wayne Towers. Born Jan. 2, 1945 at Paris, Tex. Bats and throws right. 6-2, 198. Graduated from Paris High School, 1962. Graduated from East Texas State University, Commerce Tex., Bachelor of Science in Chemistry and French, 1967. Married Barbara Lynn Bowen. No children. Lives in Paris, Tex. Acquired–Signed by Scout Clint Courtney, Aug. 5, 1970.

Dick Towers' invitation to train with the big league club this spring is a success story in itself. In July, 1970, he was the 25-year-old assistant manager of a steel plant in Longview, Tex., and he had not touched a baseball in four years. That was when he decided to take his vacation in Shreveport, La., where the Braves' Class AA farm team was located. Having always wanted to be a pitcher, Dick asked for a tryout with the Shreveport club, got the tryout, and signed a contract. Thirty minutes after signing, he started his first game and proceeded to pitch a five-inning two-hit shutout against San Antonio before being removed from the game (Aug. 5, 1970) . . . Dick played baseball and basketball at Paris High School and started the University of Alabama on a baseball scholarship. He transferred to East Texas State and graduated with honors in the double major of chemistry and French . . . Dick teaches high school in Paris during the off season.

Cecil Upshaw — P — No. 34

Cecil Lee Upshaw, Jr. Born Oct. 22, 1942 at Spearsville, La. Bats and throws right. 6-6, 185. Graduated from Bossier City, La., High School, 1960. Graduated from Centenary College, Shreveport, La., Bachelor of Science in Business, 1965. Married Jeanne Louise Yearwood. Has two children: Carole Leslie, born Aug. 22, 1963; Cecil Lee III, Dec. 30, 1966. Lives in Decatur, Ga. Acquired–Signed by Scout Mel Didier, March 3, 1964.

Cecil returned last season to once again be the Braves' top relief pitcher after missing the entire 1970 season . . . Upshaw missed the 1970 season after severing the nerves and artery of his right ring finger in a freak accident on April 8, following the Braves' second game of the season. He was returning to the team's hotel in San Diego after the game when he demonstrated how to "dunk" a basketball and caught the ring on the ledge of a parking lot booth overhead. The accident resulted in a series of operations which saved the finger and hospitalization at the Stanford Medical Center in Palo Alto, Calif., until June 2, 1970 . . . He was one of the National League's top relief pitchers in 1968, 1969 and 1971. Rated by the Sporting News method of awarding one point for a save and two points for a victory, Upshaw ranked eighth among relief pitchers in the National League in 1968 and third in 1969 . . . He had 11 saves in 1968, 25 in 1969 and 17 in 1971 . . . He has never started a Major League game . . . In 1960, Scholastic Magazine named him to the High School All-America Basketball Team . . . He made All-Louisiana in both basketball and baseball and was the leading scorer for his Centenary College basketball team his junior year . . . He led his college baseball team in hitting and ERA his senior year . . . He had a base hit his first time at bat in the Majors . . . Cecil has written a weekly column for a Shreveport paper in the past and filled in as general manager of the Braves' Shreveport farm club for a week in January, 1970, when the former GM resigned suddenly . . . Upshaw's one-game strikeout high is six.

Earl Williams — C — No. 32

Earl Craig Williams, Jr. Born July 14, 1948 at Newark, N.J. Bats and throws right. 6-3, 215. Graduated from Montclair, N.J. High School, 1965. Attended Ithaca, N.Y., College. Single. Lives in Montclair, N.J. Acquired – Signed by Scout John Russell, Aug. 26, 1965.

Earl was named the National League's Rookie of the Year last season by both the BBWAA and The Sporting News, and he was selected to the Topps' Major League All-Rookie Team . . . Williams' 33 homers were more than any National League Rookie of the Year except Frank Robinson, who hit 38 in 1956; and his 87 RBI were more than any league Rookie of the Year, except Richie Allen, who had 91 in 1964, and Orlando Cepeda, who had 96 RBI in 1958. Wally Berger hit 38 in 1930 with the Braves as a rookie, but the NL did not start selecting Rookies of the Year until 1947 . . . Williams and Hank Aaron are the only two Braves who have hit homers into the upper deck of Atlanta Stadium. Earl did it on Aug. 10, 1971, against Gaylord Perry of the Giants . . . Earl hit a grand slam homer on June 20, 1971, against Wayne Simpson in Cincinnati . . . Earl hit two home runs in his second big league start, and hit his third big league homer into the upper deck of Philadelphia's Veteran's Stadium off Rick Wise . . . Williams started last season for the Braves as a first baseman and third baseman, but he became the team's regular catcher on June 20. From the day Williams took over as catcher through the end of the 1971 season, the Braves posted a 51-40 record, best in the National League's Western Division . . . Williams was one of only seven National League players with over 30 home runs last season . . . Earl was honored by his hometown this past fall in a presentation at halftime of a high school football game . . . Hank Aaron is listed as Earl's boyhood idol . . . In addition to the Braves, Earl was sought after by the Twins, Astros, Indians and Giants before signing with Atlanta, and he says the presence of Aaron influenced his decision . . . Earl majored in Radio-TV journalism in college and wants to be a broadcaster after he finishes his big league playing career . . . After his 33 homers, 107 runs batted in and .340 average at Greenwood in the Western Carolinas League in 1969, Williams was Sport Magazine's baseball subject in a "Best Prospects of the 1970's" series on professional sports . . . Williams was converted from a first baseman to third baseman in 1970 at Shreveport and was leading the Texas League with 19 homers when called up to Richmond in mid-season . . . Williams was attending college and had not attended spring training with the Braves until 1969 . . . He was originally signed by the Braves as a pitcher, and in addition to playing third base, first base and catcher, he played some in the outfield in Richmond in 1970 . . . Williams set the Western Carolinas RBI record in 1969 but missed the final week of the season due to military training. During that final week, Dalton Renfroe of Shelby broke Earl's mark and finished the year with 109 . . . Earl hit eight homers in one seven-day period in 1969, including two grand slams . . . He was named to the Topps Gum Class A East All-Stars in 1969 and was named Topps Western Carolinas League Player of the Month for May.
